NEW 2014

14 FOR 2014: 14 KEY EVENTS FROM STIRLING'S HISTORY

While Stirling is rightly famous for being the scene of Scotland's most important battle: Bannockburn, 1314, the 700th anniversary of which is 2014, every corner of Scotland's best preserved Medieval city is linked to other key events from the past, many of which took place in buildings that survive to this day and are associated with objects and documents in the archives in museums. Stirling Council's Archaeologist and Archives Service in collaboration with the Smith Museum and Art Gallery have selected 14 overlooked anniversaries from our past and invite you to explore them with us! From William Wallace and Bonnie Prince Charlie to Coronations and witch trials and a shoot out at Holy Rude, on each anniversary we'll show you documents, objects and places to visit, with Murray Cook, the Council's Archaeologist leading a regular series of free guided walks exploring these key locations.

NEW 2014

PERTH AND KINROSS HERITAGE TRUST'S ARCHAEOLOGY MONTH 2014

This year's Archaeology Month will continue in its regular June spot and is looking for volunteers who would consider taking part in either organising an event, perhaps a guided walk, talk or display AND/OR join us and have a stall at new Perth Heritage Market! We are keen to hear if you have any other ideas for a theme, particular those that tie in with national events such as The Ryder Cup or Commonwealth Games.

If you would like to contribute to the events programme please contact Sophie Nicol, City Heritage and Outreach Officer, 01738 477027, Sophie.Nicol@pkht.org.uk, The Lodge, 4 York Place, Perth, PH2 8EP

As the event will be running for a month, please consider running your event more than once if possible, especially if you think there will be the demand. Our experience is that there are often many more requests for bookings than there are for places, and once you have prepared an event, there is little additional work in running it again.

NEW 3 to 24 February 2014

BRONZE AGE METALWORK FROM THE MORAY FIRTH AREA

The North Kessock and History Local History Society currently has an ongoing project - Feats of Clay - which is investigating the context for clay moulds found in recent excavations at Bellfield, North Kessock. The moulds were used to make clay sickles in the late Bronze Age (c. 950-800), and are rare evidence of metalworking from this period. This ARCH course will complement the project, showing how to find out about known Bronze Age metalwork from the Moray Firth area. We will compile a gazetteer of known metalwork from the area, and where possible obtain photographs, including taking pictures of objects in local collections and Edinburgh. The results will be used by Trevor Cowie who is writing a book for the Feats of Clay project.

Courses will meet at the Reading Room in Inverness Library in the old Archives room on Saturdays starts at 10:00 and ends at 13:00. No experience necessary, booking necessary, places can be booked online at:

NEEDED ON A JOURNEY': EXHIBITION WORKSHOPS

Ever wanted to get behind the scenes at the museum? Would you like to curate an exhibition at IMAG? In these workshops you will research and interpret museum objects, practise 'behind the scenes' museum work and create an innovative exhibition of previously un-shown objects for display in the First Floor Gallery of the museum during April. The exhibition will then tour throughout the Highlands to locations including the Highland Folk Museum at Newtonmore, Gairloch, Rosemarkie and others. This roving and evolving exhibition is composed around the theme of migration; journeying and the cultural gifts that people carry with them when moving from their home. This 'intangible culture' includes traditions, music, poetry, language, craft skills and lore. The items we shall be researching and preparing for exhibition include a quilt and travelling trunk that belonged to the MacKintoshes of Farr in the 18th Century, both of which are believed to have associations with their involvement in the East India Company; a Gaelic Pilgrim's Progress that travelled from the highlands to Belgium and back again; a fiddle made by Alexander Grant and a jet beaded silk apron that travelled from Inverness to Canada and has returned. We shall also be exploring images from the highland Photographic Archive. YOUR role in helping us to tell the stories that the objects included inspire is vital. The entire project is part of the 'My Heart is in the Highlands' 2014 Homecoming initiative collecting new memories, recollections and information about culture in the Highlands, through a programme of storytelling, ceilidhs, craft celebration and community curation. 10:30am - 1:30pm, EVERY Thursday, 6th February - Thursday 6th March inclusive and an additional workshop on Thursday 3rd April, 2014. Participants are asked to sign up to all workshops. These workshops are FREE, but booking is essential, as places are limited.

NEEDED ON A JOURNEY: STORYMAPPING WORKSHOPS

We are inviting you to come together with storyteller Bob Pegg and artist John Hodgkinson to produce a unique, colourful story-map based on traditional, historical and personal tales of Inverness and the city's surrounding area. There will be two workshops. The first on the 26th February, with Bob Pegg, will explore local folk tales and legends, as well as offering plenty of space for participants to share their own reminiscences and family memories that could become part of the map. The second workshop, on Tuesday 4th March, will be with both John and Bob. Together, the group will discuss how the stories can be represented visually and arranged on the map, and look at ways of creating suitable images. The map will be printed on canvas, and will be exhibited as part of 'Needed on a Journey', the community curated exhibition opening on Saturday 5th April, as part of High Life Highland's contribution to the 'My Heart is in the highlands' 2014 Homecoming Project. You don't have to be a native of Inverness to take part in this project! We believe that everyone from those born within the Burgh bounds to those who have chosen to make their home here will have interesting tales to tell and share. 10am - 4pm Wednesday 26th February and Tuesday 5th March, 2014 Participants are asked to sign up to both workshops. These workshops are FREE, but booking is essential, as places are limited. To find out more and to book your place contact me at cait.mccullagh@highlifehighland.com or call the desk on 01463 237 114
