ARCHAEOLOGY SCOTLAND OUT & ABOUT
No. 27  December 2015 to January 2016

If you would like an event, course or new publication to be included, please send basic details (e.g. date, title, place, organising body, very brief description, website and/or email address and/or phone number) to volunteer@archaeologyscotland.org.uk. Please do not send attachments. The next deadline is 14 January. Archaeology Scotland members who wish to be added to the mailing list, or those who would like their name removed, should email volunteer@archaeologyscotland.org.uk.

NEW and UPDATE indicate additions or changes to the previous list.

1. PROGRAMMES OF EVENTS

NEW  December 2015 to Summer 2016
CAPTURING THE PAST
Capturing the Past is funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund supported Clyde and Avon
Valley Landscape Partnership and Historic Scotland and runs until summer 2016. CAVLP
Heritage are appealing for volunteers to get involved and share the historical knowledge they have already – even a small amount of time can help uncover the story of the valleys over a few thousand years. Free archaeological training will be available through the project including undertaking research, discovering and recording sites and learning how to publicise discoveries. The Capturing the Past project will document details of objects brought by the public to RSPB Baron’s Haugh and make 3D models of a number of them.
People’s memories and stories associated with the objects will also be captured, meaning that the project team will build a picture of how people lived and worked in the valleys in the past. Further events and training weekends will take place throughout January, February and March.

DIG IT! 2015
Archaeology is for everyone.
It’s about you, me and all the people who’ve gone before us. It’s about identities and a sense of belonging. It’s about getting muddy – or staying laboratory clean – and having fun. It’s about discovering and telling Scotland’s stories. Dig It! 2015 is a year-long celebration of Scottish archaeology, co-ordinated by the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland and Archaeology Scotland. From kids taking over museums, and people exploring the story of their own local area, to digs, festivals, competitions, hidden relics and lost worlds, there are so many ways for people to get involved. We will be exploring our past through song, art, performance and story-telling. It will be exciting, fun, grassroots and messy – just like archaeology and archaeologists. At its heart, Dig It! 2015 will explore the theme of identities. Identities are dynamic. They operate at different scales, from the individual and local communities to the international. They change according to circumstances, whether in the great outdoors or in urban city landscapes, at sporting events or religious occasions, with the family or among strangers. They are about belonging, difference, new and old, the individual and the collective. More than anything else, identities are forged where people, places and the past meet.

Full event details are available on the DigIt! 2015 website, along with the ability to sign up for regular updates on activities and events: http://digit2015.com/

SAVE THE DATE FOR 20 to 23 MAY 2016 ARCHAEOLOGY SCOTLAND SUMMER SCHOOL 2016
The Summer School will be going to Stirlingshire in 2016 from 20th – 23rd of May 2016 so put the dates in your diary if you do not wish to miss out! More details will be sent out in the new year.

LAND OWNERSHIP IN LOCHABER V
A talk by Richard Sidgwick, 8pm, Ben Nevis Hotel, Fort William. Organised by Lochaber Local History Society.

THE BRONZE AGE NEOLITHIC? PROBLEMS OF CONTINUITY AND CHRONOLOGY
A lecture by Dr Alex Gibson, Reader in Prehistory, University of Bradford, in association with The Prehistoric Society. For some time it has been commonly acknowledged that Bronze Age ceramics developed from Neolithic forms. Radiocarbon chronology, however, has shown that there was almost a millennium between the demise of Impressed Wares and the advent of Food Vessels and Urns. Given this chronological gap, how do we explain the undeniable similarities? A closer inspection of Bronze Age culture and customs suggests that there was more than just pottery making a reappearance. 6pm, Auditorium National Museum Scotland (use Lothian Street doors), Chambers Street, Edinburgh, EH1 1JF United Kingdom, booking essential http://www.socantscot.org/event/the-bronze-age-neolithic-problems-of-continuity-and-chronology-edinburgh/

5. EXHIBITIONS

21 March 2015 to 20 May 2017
NEXT OF KIN TOUR: SCOTTISH FAMILIES AND THE GREAT WAR
1914 brought war to Scotland on what would prove to be an unprecedented scale. This exhibition reveals the profound personal stories of the separation and loss experienced by Scottish families and by communities with loved ones fighting abroad. The First World War separated millions of people worldwide from their families and homes. The impact of the conflict was felt by communities in every part of Scotland as family members fought across the fronts and news of losses were received. For the servicemen and women who experienced the conflict first-hand, keeping objects was a way of remembering this extraordinary period in their lives. Families coped with the loss of their loved ones by collecting and cherishing these souvenirs along with postcards, letters and photographs sent home and official presentations such as service medals and memorial plaques. Through a selection of these family keepsakes, this exhibition presents a portrait of Scotland at war, where the private lives of Scottish families introduce some of the themes and events of the conflict across the fighting fronts.
